

Scott Basso

CAD Designer / Future Transition Specialist

Scott has been keeping the community safe with nearly 30 years in corrections at the Penobscot County Sheriff's Office. He is currently a corrections sergeant and shift supervisor responsible for staff and 170 inmates. This year, Scott decided to take advantage of several learning opportunities that would allow him to grow his current expertise in corrections by learning building design and real estate brokering. Scott joined Dirigo Building Science Engineers as a CAD Designer. Scott will facilitate opportunities designing commercial, industrial, and residential building projects and apply his real estate license by facilitating the sale of new and renovated building projects to out-of-state clients that are investing in Maine. The Transition Specialist position is evolving to meet societal needs that helps fill the gap between parole, probation, and integration into the workforce. Scott will ultimately oversee integrating former inmates and people with past substance use disorders back into the workforce by helping to identify educational opportunities and programs. He will be available as a supervisor and employee advisor to assure a successful transition and job satisfaction.
